Carbon Monoxide And Improper Ventilation Cause Many Deaths

Carbon Monoxide and improper ventilation probably cause many wintertime traffic deaths, according to Owen Cooper, President of the Mississippi Safety Council. The Safety Council official stated that carbon monoxide is a far more dangerous than was believed and it travels with you wherever you drive.

"It is a gas you cannot see, taste, or smell. It won't tickle your throat or make your eyes smart, or in any other way make its presence known."

"However," he said "unless you use good judgment in winter driving, you can easily be overcome and killed by a part of the very gas you use to propel your automobile, and we must remember that carbon monoxide causes more deaths than any other poison."

Cooper said the symptoms of early poisoning are: tightness across the forehead, followed or accompanied by throbbing in the temples, headaches, weariness, dizziness, nausea, loss of muscular control and increased pulse and respiration.

"However," Cooper said, "if the concentration of carbon monoxide in the air is great enough, the victim may fall unconscious without any warning signals."

The safety official stated that this type poisoning is probably the cause of many traffic accidents during the winter months and urged drivers to stay aware of the fact that the poison is with them from the moment they start the auto engine.

"Motorists can protect themselves from CO poisoning very easily by keeping at least one window open," Cooper said.

"Fresh air is the remedy a person needs to drive away a drowsy feeling and it will prevent CO poisoning," he said.

He suggested that in inclement weather when a window cannot be opened to obtain fresh air by opening an air-intake vent found on the front of most cars.

Also it is a good safety measure to have the cars exhaust system checked regularly since there is little danger of being overcome by gas while driving if the exhaust system is in good repair.

Cooper said that the best rule for winter driving is not get too comfortable.

A warm heater is fine, but if drivers aren't careful, the warm and comfortable feeling can result in tragedy.

Common sense while driving during cold weather will prevent anyone from becoming another victim of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Mississippi's largest youth program and the immense benefits provided the state are on a continuing basis. The 1946 program has been one of the biggest in the 4-H history. All Mississippians can take pride in the gains achieved by the 4-H program and in the substantial contributions it is making to our overall development. This organization has grown steadily for many years. Pride of accomplishment is a key factor in this particular brand of youth organization.

CHILDREN PROTECTED AGAINST COMMUNICABLE DISEASES

It is believed that the 1945-46 Mississippi school year will see the greatest percentage of school children protected against communicable diseases. No statistics are readily available on the total vaccination status of Mississippi's school population because no statewide reporting system is in use; however, the annual activity reports by county health departments have carried on a highly creditable immunization program.

She is slowly recuperating at the present time, and it looks like the "rain" has stopped. Best wishes for continued good health and good luck are sent to these fine folks from their many friends.

Why do most drugstores sell everything from breakfast to dance wax...? The answer is simple. It is a matter of economic necessity.
Americans, thank goodness, are generally healthy and there are not enough prescriptions to keep all drugstores going. Thus, we sell a variety of merchandise. By so doing, we are able to stay open and render assistance whenever and where ever it is needed. Prescription service, however, continues to be the heart of our business and we are always pleased to assist you when medication

NEARLY 40 YEARS

"A man of many accomplishments and distinctions but who says he prefers to be known as a farmer" is the speaker for the 22nd annual meeting of the Mississippi Forestry Association in Jackson November 18.

"Herman Talmadge, United States Senator and former governor of Georgia, will bring us an inspiring report on the future possibilities for forestry in Mississippi," stated MFA President, Ralph S. Taggart, Crosby, "Georgia's forestry gains because of programs begun by Senator Talmadge have been watched with envy by her sister states."

Sensor Talmadge has been a farmer all his life in addition to concurrent careers as an attorney, insurance executive, public servant, naval officer, newspaper publisher, author, and television personality. At the age of 47, he has won nationwide recognition for the progress made by his state during his terms as Governor of Georgia and as senator from the Peach state. "One of his many accomplishments while Governor was to inaugurate a statewide forestry program which brought Georgia from the bottom of the list and placed her in the forefront of all states in that field," Taggart continued.

Taggart said that the Senator's interest in farming and forestry has been intense through his years of service in the U. S. Senate. He serves on the Agriculture and Forestry Committee of the Senate as well as the Finance Committee.

Senator John C. Stennis, Mississippi's junior member of the upper house, of Congress will also be featured at the MFA luncheon to be held in the King Edward Hotel at 12:30 p. m. Senator Stennis is a long-time friend and colleague of the Senator from Georgia. Senator Stennis has been a leader in supporting a strong forestry program and has been recognized by the MFA for his work. Taggart said. He recently received a Forest Farmer Association award for outstanding contributions to forestry.

The MFA is composed of some 2,000 small timberland owners, forest industries and other companies and professional foresters from every county in the state. The membership will hold a business session prior to the luncheon at which time officers and directors for 1961 will be named.

Another personality to appear before the group is Mississippi's Gov. Ross R. Barnett, according to James A. Files of Jackson, general chairman of the meeting. Gov.

Business Meeting Of Beta Rho Chapter Of Beta Sigma Phi Held

A cultural and business meeting of Beta Rho Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held last Tuesday night at the Waveland home of Mrs. James Guffy, with Mrs. Ben Hille, Jr., presiding over the business session.

The date for the pledge ceremony was scheduled for Nov. 15 at the home of Mrs. Reuben Ruiz.

The sale of fruit cakes was discussed and it was announced that two, three and five pound Luscan Hines cake would be sold at $2.25, $3.35 and $5.30.

The $100 savings bond given by the chapter was awarded to A. L. Lobrano of Pointe-a-La Hache, La.

The topic of the cultural meeting was "Giving and receiving Friendship." How can I be a friend; An experience when friendship meant a great deal; the famous friendship of Naomi and Ruth and Acts of friendship between Nations" were discussed. Members of the Chapter participated in the program.

SEEDLINGS PLANTED HELP TO INCREASE FORESTLAND

Mississippi's forest land has increased by over 165,000 acres as a result of tree seedlings planted in the state during the 1959-60 planting season. This area was planted with 168,614,000 seedlings distributed. These seedlings will put idle land to work growing trees which will be creating additional income, arresting soil erosion, conserving water supplies, helping prevent floods, improve recreational values, and provide a home and food for many forms of wildlife.

Fishing continues to be good—nice catches are being reported of specks, red fish, sheepshead, etc.

With the duck season about to open soon, the hunters' fingers are getting itchy. A good number of ducks have been coming South. Building of duck blinds has been going on recently.

Bob Fleming, an enthusiastic deer hunter is planning a trip soon; Bob got his big one last year.

Kenneth McCarty and party went to the marshes last week end; no report on what they killed.

The Little Girl Scout Brownies from Hattiesburg, who spent the weekend at Lucien Favre's Camp on Jordan River really had a wonderful time; they bunked at the Gammet Camp, next door.

Great plans are being made for the annual Invitational Tourney at Pass Christian Isles Club this weekend. The course is in fine shape and registration has already begun. Among other features, the "Barbecue" Saturday night will be a honey. Better plan on making it. The public is invited to play in the tournament. The entry fee will be $10 including prizes and barbecue.

The Annual Flea-Fly Classic will be played this Sunday at Saint Stanislaus Stadium. The Little players are looking forward to seeing you. Better plan to attend.

The Sugar Bowl Game in New Orleans as usual is a continuous topic these days. Whichever team play in the bowl game, a sell out is always expected.

With the approaching opening of the waterfowl season, the Miss. Game and Fish Commission has exhausted its public waterfowl shooting in various sections of the state.

Shooting ponds constructed on Grenada Reservoir last year were repaired early this week and will begin collecting water with the first rains in the area. Commission personnel inspected the ponds as soon as repairs were made and noted several small flocks of ducks making use of the pot holes in the immediate vicinity. Only

MISSISSIPPI SEAL OF ARTHRITIS CAMPAIGN

The Mississippi Chapter of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation is holding its rights on a goal of $27,000 in its 1960 fund-raising drive which opened Nov. 1st.

Why the funds are needed is suggested according to Mrs. Elizabeth N. Waters, Chairman, of the theme: "Care Today and a Cure Tomorrow." She explained that the more than 135,000 Mississippi victims of arthritis will be made by an increase in treatment facilities made possible through memberships, donations, and drive, and that a portion of the funds would go toward the support of research scientists seeking a cure for the crippling disease.

"As the Foundation enters its second decade continued Mrs. Waters, "we can look back at more progress in the fight against arthritis in the past 10 years than in the preceding century. We have really begun to move. With the treatment methods we have today, seven out of 10 arthritics can be restored to useful living." She pointed out, however, that local treatment facilities are not yet adequate to provide the proper care for all the sufferers in Mississippi who are in need of it. "Many thousands of arthritics victims look to the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation for attention. We are, after all, the only voluntary agency set up exclusively to combat this problem," said Mrs. Waters.

Your attention is also called to the fact that there can be no "Letdown" against a disease which claims an estimated 250,000 new victims every year, and requires long-term comprehensive and individualized care and the public must realize the seriousness of the arthritis problem and the need for vigorously attacking it on all fronts.

CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN OPENED NOVEMBER 14TH.

An American tradition—more than half a century old—was renewed Monday, November 14, with the mailing of Christmas Seals to the residents of Hancock County.

Over 8 million lives have been saved since the first Christmas Seal was sold, but the saving of lives is not enough, "declared Mrs. Robert Fayard, chairman of the Hancock County Tuberculosis Association.

"We must see to it that no family is forced to suffer the tragic effects of tuberculosis a long-term, chronic illness.

Speaking at a special meeting of volunteers at last minute preparations were being made for the 1960 campaign, Mrs. Fayard said, "Proceeds from this year's Christmas Seal Campaign must do more than maintain our present tuberculosis control activities. We must expand our efforts to find all the unknown cases of tuberculosis in this county. We must help the ex-tuberculous patient get back on their feet. We must expand our educational program. We must put more money into medical research."

"We want the people of this county to know what they are paying for when they contribute to the Christmas Seal Campaign. The Christmas Seal letter is the tuberculosis association's only appeal for funds to support its year-round program on local, state, and national levels.

Of every dollar contributed, 94c remains in Mississippi and 6c goes to the National Tuberculosis Association.

During the Campaign, which will continue through December, the Christmas Seal Committee

"We urge you to give during our November campaign drive, said Mrs. Waters, "to help combat this most painful crippling disease that causes more disability than all accidents combined. No donations too small—give to your local chapter, or to the Mississippi Chapter, The Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, 3906 Council Circle, Jackson 6, Mississippi, Telephone EM-6-3839."

Dear Hunters To Wear Bright New Colors This Year

The "Safety-minded" Mississippi deer hunters will wear a bright new color this year, according to Owen Cooper, President of the Mississippi Safety Council. Cooper said a long study by safety experts exploded a long-time theory that bright red was the safest color for deer hunters. It was found that any color becomes "dull" in the early morning or late evening, and if the hunter is partially shielded, the red cap or coat fails to live up to its reputation as a safety factor.

The study involving colors for hunters shows that new fluorescent colors are far superior to any others and of these daylight fluorescent orange is the color that will save more lives in the woods.

The Safety Council President said that although deaths resulting from hunting accidents in Mississippi have never reached alarming proportions they still occur each year.

"It must be remembered, too," Cooper said "that deer hunting is fast becoming a favorite pastime among our people and anything we can do to insure their safety in the woods will make their hunt more enjoyable."

Cooper said that any fluorescent is better than a plain bright color because at sunset the brights fade to dull white the fluorescent continues to remain plainly visible.

ible for a considerable time.

As for the deer, the study the experts shows that they are interested in color at all. They are used by a group of hunters for several years during the seasonal period and they find a deer as always, and it is not surprising said, "my own deer hunter mistake another deer for a fluorescent cap and a cap will be better than a cap being at all, and they will be available at most sporting stores."

Cooper said hunters should wear a fluorescent cap and a cap will be better than a cap being at all, and they will be available at most sporting stores.

The Mississippi Safety Council is a citizens organization designed to prevent accidents in the fields.

GATHER FLORAL MATERIAL NOW TO DRY FOR SOUVENIRS

Some souvenirs of summer are as practical as well as sentimental, especially if they come from your own garden. For those who are making dried winter bouquets, is the time to start gathering necessary materials from the flower garden, these items particularly suited for drying should be:

Cut flowers for drying when they are at their prime. The foliage should be removed, and the stems grouped into loose unwrapped bundles. Each bundle should be placed securely with string and suspended in a dark, well-ventilated place. These conditions are drying.

COAST ELECTRIC POWER ASSOCIATION IS

MISSISSIPPIANS

Coast Electric is the people it serves with electricity. Without these 26,000 people, there would be no Coast Electric. Without Coast Electric, many of these people would still be without electricity.

Throughout Mississippi, 20 odd years ago, people began to work together to form electric power associations to serve themselves with electricity which was not then available at reasonable costs from any other source. They invested time, and each family made a cash investment when they agreed to be a part of the Association.

They borrowed money to build lines. From among them a board of directors was selected to handle the details of these new business ventures.

If you buy electricity through one of Mississippi's Electric Power Associations, and almost a million Mississippians do - then you are part of that Association. At the same time, the Association partly belongs to you.

• Compliment Coast Electric and you compliment 26,000 Mississippians.

• Criticize Coast Electric and you criticize 26,000 Mississippians.

• Believe in the purpose of Coast Electric and you believe in the judgment of those Mississippians.

COAST ELECTRIC IS THE PEOPLE IT SERVES.

THE DEFENSE ATTACKS

Spencer Tracy, as the biting, sarcastic attorney for the defense in the famous "Monkey trial of 1925," opens his attack while the flowery orator, played by Frederic March, smugly awaits his turn. "Inherit the Wind," produced and directed by Stanley Kramer, will open Saturday at the Legion Theatre, through United Artists release.

"G. I. Blues" To Be At Legion Theatre, Gulfport Next Wednesday
That day, so long awaited by Elvis Presley fans in our town, is about to dawn. At last, his first picture following his two-year Army Service is scheduled to arrive next Wednesday at the Legion Theatre. It is the Hal Wallis production, in Technicolor, "G. I. Blues," and it's rated as the banner, bright, musical show of the year.

In the Paramount romantic comedy which co-stars the sensational dancing duo of "Can-Can," Juliet Browne, Presley portrays an American soldier stationed in peacetime Germany. The role, in a sense, duplicates cinematically the star's Army chores during his military service. The U. S. 3rd Armored (Spearhead) Division, which occupies a pivotal defense position in West Germany and with which Presley served, plays itself in the film—with one big change. In the movie, all of the "maneuvers" primarily involve girls, specifically three lovely frauleins played by the shapely, red-headed Miss Prowse, Sigrid Ruman and Leticia Roman. Robert Ivers, Ames Douglas and Arch Johnson play buddies of Presley.

"G. I. Blues" contains ten new song hits which Elvis sings, and Juliet swings, plus a couple of favorites thrown in for good measure—a musical score that should delight not only Presley fans but all lovers of fast-moving, song-and-dance entertainment.

Miss Blaise's room won the room count prize in the high school division and Mrs. Claiborne Ladner's 3rd grade room.

Hostesses for the refreshments were the 3rd grade mothers of the S. J. Ingram and Waveland Center.

Richard Burton and Carolyn Jones are depicted in a dramatic scene from "Ice Palace," Warner Bros. filmization of Edna Ferber's exciting novel of Alaska which comes Sunday to the Star Theatre. Robert Ryan, Martha Hyer and Jim Backus co-star in the
